1. Introduction

Brambletye recognises its responsibility to promote positive relationships amongst its pupils, to help pupils understand the world in which they are growing up and to prepare pupils for the opportunities, responsibilities and experiences of adolescent and adult life. Brambletye seeks to provide a safe and stimulating environment that will enable pupils to learn about spiritual, moral, cultural, mental, physical and emotional development.

To embrace the challenges of creating a happy and successful adult life, pupils need knowledge that will enable them to make informed decisions about their wellbeing, health and relationships and to build their self-efficacy. Pupils can also put this knowledge into practice as they develop the capacity to make sound decisions when facing risks, challenges and complex contexts. Everyone faces difficult situations in their lives. These subjects can support young people to develop resilience, to know how and when to ask for help, and to know where to access support.

2. Relationships Education - Primary

The aim of Relationships Education is to teach pupils the fundamental building blocks and characteristics of positive relationships with particular reference to friendships, family relationships and relationships with other children and with adults. The principles of positive relationships also apply in the online world. The statutory curriculum content for Primary Relationships Education can be found in Appendix 1.

3. Relationships and Sex Education - Secondary

The aim of Relationships and Sex Education is to give young people the age-appropriate information they need to help them develop healthy, nurturing relationships of all kinds, not just intimate relationships. It should enable them to know what a healthy relationship looks like and what makes a good friend, a good colleague and a successful marriage or other types of committed relationship. It should teach what is acceptable and unacceptable behaviour in relationships. This will help pupils understand the positive effects that good relationships have on their mental wellbeing, identify when relationships are not right and understand how such situations can be managed.

The statutory curriculum content for Secondary Relationships and Sex Education can be found here: <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/relationships-education-relationships-and-sex-education-rse-and-health-education>

As per the statutory guidance, this content needs to be covered during a pupil's time in secondary education. At Brambletye we educate pupils for the first two of these years and therefore we will only cover those areas of the curriculum that are age and developmentally appropriate. See Section 5 below.

4. Physical Health and Mental Wellbeing

The aim of teaching pupils about physical health and mental wellbeing is to give them the information that they need to make good decisions about their own health and wellbeing. It should enable them to recognise what is normal and what is an issue in themselves and others and, when issues arise, know how to seek support as early as possible from appropriate sources.

The statutory curriculum content for primary Physical Health and Mental Wellbeing Education can be found in Appendix 2 and the secondary content here: <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/relationships-education-relationships-and-sex-education-rse-and-health-education>

5. Delivery of the RSE and Health programme including delivery to pupils with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND)

Relationship Education and Relationships, Sex & Health Education must be accessible to all pupils. The programme should also be mindful that some pupils are more vulnerable to exploitation, bullying and other issues due to the nature of their SEND. Delivery of the programme as outlined in the contents will be via classroom teaching, predominantly in PSHEE but certain areas will also be covered in Science, PE and RS/TPR, through assemblies, chapel, lectures, pupil committees, the awarding of pupils responsibilities and via displays around the school. Any use of visitors will be used to enhance teaching and not be used as a replacement for it. The delivery of all aspects of this curriculum will be age-appropriate. This is vital as the topics will be covered again as pupils move onto their senior school.

The teaching of Relationships, Sex & Health Education at Brambletye is done using the cross-phase model developed by the PSHE Association. This model covers all three core themes of the Programme of Study (Health and Wellbeing; Relationships; and Living in the Wider World) over six half terms. The topics are arranged in a manner that allows for timely exploration at an appropriate point in the school year and pupils' experiences. It provides a carefully sequenced curriculum that builds knowledge, skills and attributes year on year, as the core themes are revisited.

The cross-phase model covers all aspects of the Programme of Study, as well as all of the new statutory Relationships and Health education content for Key Stage 2 and lower Key Stage 3; the aspects of the Key Stage 3 curriculum more suitable for Year 9 pupils are not included. The PSHEE Association Long Term Overview that we will be following can be seen in Appendix 4.

In Years 1 and 2 the content will be delivered using the PSHE Association question-based model. This can be seen in Appendix 3.

The PSHE Association provides quality assured teaching resources that are age-appropriate and tailored to the topic of study. These will be made available to all teaching staff.

6. Monitoring and Evaluation

The Head of PSHEE will lead Relationship Education and Relationships, Sex & Health Education throughout the school. Regular meetings will be held to ensure that all teachers involved in teaching aspects of RSE are confident in their delivery and have appropriate training when required. The Head of PSHEE will monitor delivery in both a formal and informal sense as per the requirements set out in the Head of Department job description.

Teachers will critically reflect on their work in delivering RSE through regular dialogue with other staff, the Head of PSHEE and through the progress being made by the pupils. Pupils will have opportunities to review and reflect on their work during lessons. Pupil voice will be influential in adapting and amending planned learning activities as feedback is gathered during lessons.

Regular feedback will be given to pupils and teachers will assess work to identify areas where extra support or intervention is required. Pupils will be able to demonstrate progress through tests, written assignments, class discussions, presentations, debate or self-evaluations.

7. Working with Parents

The role of parents in the development of their children's understanding about relationships is vital. Parents are the first teachers of their children and they have the most significant influence in enabling their children to grow and mature and to form healthy relationships.

Brambletye will work closely with parents when planning and delivering these subjects. The School will ensure that parents know what will be taught and when and that they are given every opportunity to understand the purpose and content of Relationships Education and Relationship and Sex Education. The School will clearly communicate the fact that parents have the right to request that their child be withdrawn from some or all of sex education delivered as part of statutory RSE.

Whilst parents will not be able to withdraw their child from relationships education, parents will be able to request withdrawal of their child from primary age group classes which address sex education i.e. those that do not sit within the relationships education delivery. The Headmaster will automatically grant a request to withdraw a pupil from any sex education delivered at the primary age range i.e. Years 3, 4, 5 and 6, other than those parts of the Science curriculum.

Before granting any request for withdrawal in Years 7 and 8, it would be appropriate for the Headmaster to discuss the request with the parent. This discussion should include the benefits of receiving this important education and any detrimental effects that withdrawal might have on the child. This could include any social and emotional effects of being excluded, as well as the likelihood of the child hearing their peers' version of what was said in the classes, rather than what was directly said by the teacher. Once those discussions have taken place the school will respect the parental request. Requests for withdrawal should be put in writing and addressed to the Headmaster.

When this policy was originally developed, all parents were invited to question or comment on any area. Any subsequent and material changes to the policy will be issued to the parental body for further consultation.

8. Religion and Belief

The religious background of all pupils must be taken into account when planning teaching, so that the topics that are included in the core content in this guidance are appropriately handled. Brambletye will comply with the relevant provisions of the Equality Act 2010, under which religion or belief are amongst the protected characteristics. Teaching will reflect the law (including the Equality Act 2010) as it applies to relationships, so that young people clearly understand what the law allows and does not allow, and the wider legal implications of decisions they may make.

9. Equality

Brambletye is required to comply with relevant requirements of the Equality Act 2010. Further guidance is available in The Equality Act 2010: advice for schools.

Under the provisions of the Equality Act, schools must not unlawfully discriminate against pupils because of their sex, race, disability, religion or belief, gender reassignment, pregnancy or maternity or sexual orientation; these are collectively known as the protected characteristics. There are two additional protected characteristics that do not apply to pupils and they are 1) age and 2) marriage & civil partnership. Brambletye will also make reasonable adjustments to alleviate disadvantage and be mindful of the SEND Code of Practice when planning for these subjects.

Provisions within the Equality Act allow schools to take positive action, where it can be shown that it is proportionate, to deal with particular disadvantages affecting one group because of a protected characteristic. This should be taken into consideration in designing and teaching these subjects. A school, could, for example, consider taking positive action to support girls if there was evidence that they were being disproportionately subjected to sexual harassment.
